

OLSON FOR STATE SENATOR

Former Chicago Alderman and Ex-member of the Legislature

ANNOUNCEMENT A SURPRISE

L. E. Menisch Now in the Field But Will Have Mr. Olson's Opposition the Latter States Formally

A new figure has come into the fight for the state senatorship in the person of Albert J. Olson of Woodstock, who announces that he is out in opposition to L. E. Menisch.

Mr. Olson owns a large farm on the outskirts of Woodstock and is an extensive farmer, milk dealer, poultry raiser and butter maker. He removed from Chicago some years ago and has since operated the farm.

Mr. Olson is a former alderman of the city of Chicago, has served as member of the legislature and is now a Woodstock alderman. He is an aggressive and a progressive citizen and a man of about 45 years. He has served as president of the McHenry County Automobile Club and is widely known in his own county and in western Lake county.

In connection with the Olson announcement the new primary law disposes of the old agreement of years standing by which Lake, Boone and McHenry counties took turns at electing state senators and representatives. Politicians see that the new law will not permit of this agreement existing and will hereafter direct their own men in their own counties.

This means two candidates for representatives in each county and two for senator and no co-operation between the three counties.

It is reported that David Jackson in Lake county will come out in opposition to Attorney A. K. Stearns for representative. Mr. Jackson has thus far made no announcement but it is understood that his plans are pretty definitely made.

CLEARED STATESMAN OF DEBT.

Disraeli's "Endymion" Fulfilled Expectations of Author.

In the year 1872 Lord Beaconsfield commenced his last novel, "Endymion," a work undertaken chiefly from the honorable desire to obtain a sum of money that would finally wipe out the residue of monetary engagements. He worked at it pretty steadily until the general election of 1874 called him to office, when his literary work was set aside. Still he wrote at it occasionally till the beginning of the year 1876, when the Eastern question coming to the front and engrossing his attention, he, as he thought, finally laid the work aside. He then wrote a letter to Lord Rowton, inclosing the manuscript, unfinished by something like 100 pages of printed matter. He stated his view that the pressure of public work would preclude his continuing the novel, and in the event of his decease he instructed Lord Rowton to finish the work, but not to volunteer the announcement that it had been left in an incomplete state or to avow his collaboration, leaving the book to stand solely in the name of its original creator. Lord Beaconsfield, however, living through his own administration and finding comparative leisure when in opposition, completed the novel with his own hand, and it was sold for a splendid sum of £10,000, a windfall which enabled him to fulfill his cherished desire of paying off his debts.

MET HIS MATCH AT REPARTEE.

Jersey Judge Probably Sorry That He Started Action.

Gov. Fort of New Jersey tells this story: An old Quaker woman was a witness in a case which was being tried one day before Judge Garrison over in Jersey, and she wore a big poke bonnet which muffled her ears and prevented her hearing the lawyer's questions. Finally the lawyer appealed to the judge, and he ordered her to remove the bonnet.

"I'll do no such thing," she said, tartly.

"I am accustomed to having my will respected," said the judge.

"Well, I don't care if you are a judge, that bonnet stays right where it is!"

"Perhaps, madam," the judge put in, ironically, "you would like to take my place as judge, too, eh?"

"Not a bit of it," she shot out, "there are enough old women on the bench in Jersey as it is."

DEATH OF MRS. A. F. HERMAN

Occurred at Elgin on Monday, May 18, Aged Forty Four Years

On Monday forenoon between the hours of eleven and twelve o'clock at the asylum at Elgin occurred the death of Mrs. Andrew F. Herman, a well known resident of this community.

Although her relatives and friends here had known that the remainder of her life might be counted by weeks, as she was suffering from that fatal disease, consumption, it was with a shock that the news of her death was received, for at no time had they thought that the end was so near, and had made all arrangements to remove her to her home at Grass Lake as soon as the weather would permit, in order that her last days might be spent at home in the presence of those most dear to her.

Miss Minnie Yopp was the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Yopp, and was born on the old Yopp homestead at Grass Lake in the year of 1864. There she grew to womanhood and there she was united in marriage to Andrew F. Herman in the year of 1882. Soon after their marriage they went to Dakota and there the greater part of their married life was spent. A number of years ago however, Mr. Herman's health began to fail and they returned to Grass Lake, making that place their home, but traveling a greater part of the time in the vain attempt to better his health.

A little over four years ago Mr. Herman passed away at Phoenix, Ari., after which Mrs. Herman returned to her home at Grass Lake. About two years ago, it was noticed by the family that her mind was becoming unbalanced, caused, no doubt, by the reaction after years of unceasing, unselfish care of her husband and constant worry over what she realized was a case beyond medical aid. It was deemed advisable to place her in a sanitarium and accordingly she was taken to Lake Geneva, where she remained until last fall, when her case was pronounced incurable and she was taken to Elgin. Soon after being taken there, her health began to fail and she developed symptoms of consumption the same disease which had afflicted her husband.

She leaves to mourn her loss an aged mother, one sister, Mrs. P. Keifer, and two brothers, Joseph and Charley Yopp of Grass Lake, besides many other relatives and friends.

The remains were brought here on the 6:30 train Tuesday evening and the funeral was held at St. Peter's church at 11 o'clock Wednesday morning, interment at Grass Lake cemetery.

MAYOR BUSSE TO DEVELOP FOX LAKE FARM

Mayor Busse, of Chicago, startled his friends by making a sudden exit from the city, leaving word that he had gone into Central Illinois on another "farming" mission. When the mayor returns he will have acquired possession of a number of cows, a few horses, some farming machinery and a desire to spend a few hours as possible in Chicago between now and the next cold spell. The cows and farming implements are to be shipped to the mayor's country home in Fox Lake, Ill., which the mayor intends developing into a fine stock farm. It is said that when he finds out the people do not want him as their mayor any longer he will betake himself to the stock farm and live the simple life.

JACK THE OLDEST DOG ALIVE.

He Was Born Nineteen Years Ago, But Refuses to Think of Dying.

Jack, a mongrel terrier, but a breed worth while, has been so used to fighting all his life that he will not die. Not he; he refuses to think of it, says the Boston Globe.

His father was a cross between an Irish terrier and a skye terrier and his mother a smooth-haired fox terrier. Glorious combination, a terrier of the terriers. He was born in Newton Lower Falls in March, 1889.

Bought for $5, his owner, to keep the peace in the family of Noah A. Plympton of Wellesley Hills, said that he had brought him home for the baby. On those terms and on those alone was he admitted to the household, which he has ruled since to such an extent that the members are grateful that he does not know about the discussion which so nearly kept him from the place where he belonged.

Faithful, affectionate, good to look at, with his expressive eyes and shaggy hair, intelligent to a degree, good-tempered, though quick to resent an insult like the accident of having moved one's foot anywhere near him, Jack has been a cheering companion and a devoted friend.

And Jack has had the unique honor of being present at a Wellesley college function, to which no man ever has been admitted. He came home decked out with ribbons.

HIGHWOOD MONSTER FED BOY LAUDANUM THEN STABBED HIM

His Hand Refused in Marriage by the Victim's Mother, Henry Amann is Said to Have Slain Walter Knoble as the Result of an Agreement

MURDERER SAYS BOY BARED BREAST TO GLITTERING KNIFE THAT SLEW HIM

After Committing the Terrible Crime, the Man Sent the Small Hunting Knife Toward His Own Heart, but the Wounds Did Not Prove Fatal and He Was Later Captured by a Fort Sheridan Sentry

In one of the strangest murder cases ever known new facts that have developed make it appear that after making a suicide pact with his foster son, Walter Knoble, Henry Rudolph Amann fed the small boy laudanum and finding that this did not kill him stabbed him to death, the boy bearing his breast to the thrust.

After bearing his breast for the final stroke and closing his eyes in sleep to await its coming, a 12 year old lad met his death in Fort Sheridan Saturday afternoon at the hand of a paralytic whom he had been persuaded to accept as his father.

"Here is where my heart beats, Henry. I am ready to die and your boy does not want to live. Don't be afraid to stab me. Just make it as easy and don't hurt me any more than you have to. I want to die with you, Henry, for I love you so. You are going to die, aren't you, Henry?"

The lad did not have long to wait. With long and trembling hands the little lad undid his father's clothes and then prepared to sleep for the last time.

After about two hours the father moved about, but as the little fellow had laid his curly head down on his arm the disturbance awakened him.

"Don't leave me," the little lad pleaded. "I am not going to leave you," was the answer from the father. With that the little lad closed his eyes for the final slumber. He never awakened.

Henry Rudolph Amann, the father, tarried not. The knife soon had sought its mark, which the little son and his father had marked out prior to his falling asleep.

Willingly the little lad, Walter Knoble, met his death. As his life's blood streamed forth he reached up and kissed his father, the murderer, saying, "We can at least die together."

When Amann saw that the lad was dying he sent the cruel small hunting knife towards his own heart and soon fell beside his own child to die, fainting from the loss of blood as he fell.

However, his wounds were not fatal. At 2 o'clock Sunday morning, weakened from the loss of blood and in a dazed condition, he was halted by the picket sentry at Fort Sheridan as he staggered past the guard line at the rear of the officers' quarters at the rear of the practice range.

The murderer was taken immediately to the post hospital and medical and surgical aid summoned. Doctors at the fort worked over him all night until in the early morning their faithfulness was rewarded by a full confession.

The man then told where to find his victim, laying out the route on a piece of cardboard which he had in his pocket.

The search for the body was taken up immediately by the hospital attaches.

Finally after a two hour hunt the little lad was discovered by a member of the searching party, lying on his back with his head on his coat, apparently asleep.

A tiny bunch of violets was lying at his throat, having been placed there by his father, who had taken him to his death by the strangest suicide pact ever known.

All day Sunday the murderer lay on his cot at the hospital strapped down, and two assistants watching his every move, and he refused to tell his name or that of the boy until after he had been confronted with Dr. E. C. Griffiths to whom the murderer stated "I have killed my boy." He wanted to die and never wanted to be separated from me. I wanted him to leave but he would not. I even begged to tell him where to find him, but he would not leave me. The doctor then asked the man if he would like to see his son's lifeless body. "Yes bring it to me, the man cried, and I will tell all."

The lifeless body of the boy was carried into the room and laid on a cot on the opposite side of the room.

"You said I could see the body. I will not tell anything until I see him. Then wheeling the cot up close to the one occupied by the father, all were surprised to see the man brace up, reach out and kiss the lad thrice on the mouth, and then say

"Now you can take him away. I will tell all, good bye my son."

The father then willingly told Dr. Griffiths the story and also told him of past facts and connections of the life of both him and the boy.

As the father cried out that he would tell all, Deputy Coroner Conrad and State's Attorney Hanna were arriving. They found that Coroner Taylor had commenced the case by impanelling a jury and had then gone to Chicago leaving word for all to await his return.

In the meantime Mrs. Knoble and two small children were anxiously waiting to hear if Walter had been found. The boy had been kidnapped by his foster father many times during the past few years, and for the past few months had lived with him at Otto street Chicago. Amann had lived with Mrs. Knoble for twelve years, but when her husband died eight years ago he had begged her to marry him. Amann, however tarried at the home and acted as father to the children. They all called him papa, but it was upon Walter that the man lavished his affections.

They had been together day and night and a year ago when Amann left the house in a huff, he took the boy with him and went to California. He was partially paralyzed and it was hard for him to make a living.

He wrote to Mrs. Knoble for money and said if he did not get it he would kill the boy. Mrs. Knoble sent $200 to Amann and he returned to Chicago last January. Later, after a quarrel, he left again taking Walter with him.

A letter was found in Amann's pocket, which he declared the boy had written, but which Dr. Taylor thinks he wrote himself, and in which the man confessed to have written the first two sentences.

"Please bury us in one grave. Everything is against us. I do not wish to live without my father. I go of my own free will. Please bury us together in one grave." (signed) Walter.

In his confession Amann said, "I became discouraged and wanted to die. Luck seemed all against us. I am partially paralyzed and it is hard for me to make a living. I was thrown from a street car seven years ago, as a conductor on a Belmont Avenue surface line. I sued the company and got $5,370 damages but the case was appealed.

Thursday I left the place where I was staying determined to end my life. I had talked to the boy about it and he had agreed but refused to return to Chicago. He said that if I died he wished to die also, and he would not leave me.

We took a car from Evanston on the same afternoon and came to Lake Bluff. We got off at the station and spent the afternoon wandering in woods. We walked by the lake shore all day Friday. I tried to induce the boy to leave me then, but he would not. In the evening when they lay down to sleep the father gave the boy a sip out of the bottle of laudanum, according to a statement obtained at the Fort. Then according to Amann he reached over felt the boy's heart and then struck. Then I stabbed myself and lay there unconscious for a long time. When I awakened I tried to finish the job but was too weak."

"I am the father of the child and I will prove it when the time comes," announces Amann at the hospital. "The child was born soon after we returned from the west, about eleven years ago. At that time Mrs. Knoble was living with me at a hotel in Chicago. All these facts I can prove."

Mrs. Knoble said, "He has tried to force me to marry him by telling abroad that he is the father of the child. It was nothing short of revenge for my turning him down and refusing to marry him that led to his killing my boy."

"Ever since my husband died eight years ago he has been making an attempt to persuade me to marry him, but I refused to do so. I would not marry him, he is a cripple. I could not love him, so I would not marry him."

HUGE SUM MADE FOR NAVY

Foss Commended for Share in Navy and Will Continue Fight for More

The naval appropriation bill for the fiscal year 1909 carries about $123,000,000—the largest sum ever voted by congress in a single session during time of peace for the fleets of this nation—nearly eight millions above the highest previous record. It provides for two new battleships a year indefinitely, and increases the pay of every officer in the navy a flat $500 a year and the pay of enlisted men 10 per cent all around. This will not only increase the fighting force but efficiency of the personnel, and will do more towards retaining in the service valuable sailors who are tempted to resign and desert because they can earn so much higher wages in civil life.

George Edmund Foss, representative from the tenth district of Illinois and chairman of the naval committee of the House of Representatives, does not believe that we have reached the period in our naval development where we can safely stop, and he advocates a moderate and systematic increase of the fighting strength of the navy by at least two ships a year and not by spasmodic appropriations for one ship one year, four the next and back to one again.

FEDERAL BLDG. FUND RECEIVES BIG INCREASE

Instead of Waukegan getting an increase of $35,000 on the federal building fund as was asked for by Congressman Foss and hoped for by people generally, the bill which on Thursday passed the house at Washington contained an increased appropriation for Waukegan $20,000. This amount, added to the amount appropriated some months ago, $75,000, makes a total appropriation for a federal building in Waukegan of $95,000.

This amount is for building and site and the increased item, $20,000, is taken by people generally to be meant as a sufficient amount for purchasing a site for the building itself.

One reason why an increased amount was asked for by Congressman Foss, was because in the original amount, $75,000, it was found that the site would cost so much that it would leave too little for erection of a suitable building, hence the move to get more money for the project. The $20,000 additional will give the city enough for a fine site and building, as for $20,000 almost any site offered when bids were called for could be purchased.

THIRD LAKE RESTOCKED WITH PIKE

Eight hundred thousand walleried pike, each four days old, arrived in Waukegan Friday morning on their way to Third Lake from the fish hatchery at Mendota, Ill.

A consignment of black bass to the same number is to follow in a few days and the movement is to result in the restocking with fish of some of the county's depleted and overfished lakes.

Congressman George Edmund Foss, Postmaster Charles G. Watrous and the Waukegan Bachelor Club brought about the shipment of the fish and the bachelors are doing the restocking. The fish were smaller than a minute of time and could hardly be seen by the naked eye, but when it is considered there were 800,000 of them or 800,000 bits in prospect for fishermen in a few weeks, they just had to be small to be cramped into eight milk cans.

WITTY SAYINGS ABOUT WOMEN.

Philosopher Recalls National Opinions, Some of Them Rather Tart.

The sea glittered in the sunshine, and looking at the multitude of women in their splendid array, the philosopher said:

"Woman—men like to ponder her. You could fill a book with proverbs and saws about woman."

"The Greeks say love is blind, but marriage is clear-sighted enough, and they add that after three days the most troublesome things in the world are rain, a guest, and a wife."

"The Persians say, 'Always consult your wife, and then go and do as you please.' They say, too, 'Many wives are a good thing, for while they quarrel you are left in peace.'"

"A German will tell you that a woman and a stove ought not to stir out of the house."

"The Indian says that you test gold by applying acid, the strength of a camel by loading it, a man's character by listening to him, and a woman's thoughts—'By Allah,' they break off, 'it cannot be done.'"

ARREST CORN THIEF

Alleged Crook Captured in Waukegan Monday Evening

AFTER ONE YEAR'S CHASE

Charged With Having Mis-shipped Two Cars of Corn While an Employee of a Railroad at Pontiac, Ill.

After a pursuit that has lasted for over a year Monday night Peter Pauley, employed for about six months as second trick telegraph operator at the Waukegan belt line station, was arrested for an alleged attempt to steal two cars of corn.

He was removed to Pontiac, Ill., Tuesday morning in the custody of a deputy sheriff after he had made what is alleged to be a partial confession.

Excitement was lent the capture by the fact that two detectives claimed Pauley, one a belt line officer and the other the Pontiac deputy sheriff.

As nearly as can be learned Pauley is accused of having mis-shipped two cars of corn while in the employ of a railroad at Pontiac.

He is said to have billed the two cars wrong deliberately with the expectation of being able to sell them and reap the profits.

However, it is reported to cars both developed hot boxes and had to be shunted onto repair tracks of the railroad, after which Pauley's alleged offense was discovered and he fled, to be pursued until Monday night, although the offense is said to have been committed about a year ago last January.

Pauley was arrested in his room in the Hotel Arlington, Waukegan, by Chief of Police Tyrrell and Captain Adam Vogel. He is said to have surrendered without a struggle but seemed anxious to ship his trunks to his home in Chicago instead of to Pontiac where the sheriff could take charge.

The Pontiac deputy sheriff on advice of the Waukegan captain, took charge of the trunk and suit case and they were shipped to Pontiac instead of to Chicago. It is believed that they may contain papers of interest in the case.

While it is not so stated, it is generally believed that there are two or three charges against Pauley, from the fact that the two officers were after him, by a peculiar coincidence, at the same moment.

The belt line officer was on the trail first but the Pontiac man, by reason of the prior charge, got the prisoner.

It is said that Pauley has been in Waukegan about six months and down at the belt line office, where he has been working, his fellow employes respect and like him and maintain that he simply "got in wrong" in some way. They do not believe he is a crook at all.

SYNOPSIS.

Burton H. Barnes, a wealthy American touring Corsica, rescues the young English lieutenant, Edward Gerard Anstruther, and his Corsican bride, Marina, daughter of the Paolis, from the murderous vendetta, understanding that his reward is to be the hand of the girl he loves, Enid Anstruther, sister of the English lieutenant. The four fly from Ajaccio to Marseilles on board the French steamer Constantine. The vendetta pursues them and the quartet are about to board the train for London at Marseilles, which causes her to collapse and necessitates a postponement of the journey. Barnes and Enid are married. Soon after their wedding Barnes' bride disappears. Barnes discovers she has been kidnapped and taken to Corsica. The groom secures a fishing vessel and is about to start in pursuit of his bride's captors when he hears a scream from the villa and rushes back to hear that before Barnes' boat lands on Corsica's shore Marina is discovered hiding in a corner of the vessel. She explains her action by saying she has come to help Barnes rescue his wife from the Corsicans. When Barnes and Marina arrive in Corsica he is given a note written by Enid informing him that the kidnapping is for the purpose of entrapping Barnes so the vendetta may kill him. Barnes and Marina have unusual adventures in their search for Enid. They come in sight of her and her captors in the Corsican mountain wilds just as night approaches. In seeking shelter from a storm the couple enter a hermitage and there to their amazement they discover Tomasso, the foster father of Marina, who was supposed to have been killed by De Belloc's soldiers, and for whose death Barnes had been vendettized. Tomasso learns that Marina's husband did not kill her brother. Many wrongs are righted. Barnes is surprised in the hermitage by Rochini and Romano, the two detected bandits, who had been searching for him to murder him for his money. The bandits attempt to take away Marina. Barnes dashes out the door. The bandits start to pursue, but as they reach the door both are laid low by Barnes' revolver. Members of the Bellacoscia enter and Barnes is honored for his great service to the community in killing the hated Rochini and Romano. The release of Enid is promised. Barnes is conveyed in triumph to Bocognano. Marina acquaints the Bellacoscia with Salicetti's plot against her husband and the people are instructed to vote against him at the coming election. Barnes is taken to the mansion of the Paolis to meet Enid. Marina receives a telegram. She starts for Bastia to meet her husband. Entering the room to greet his wife, Barnes is bewildered to find the adventures La Belle Blackwood, but not Enid. She had been substituted for the American's bride by a sordid plot.

CHAPTER XV.—Continued.

This is spoken as he springs off the horse, tosses the bridle to the boy, and runs up the stairs. "Marina is inside, I imagine," he says, and calls through the doorway.

"Marina left for Bastia over an hour ago," says Barnes.

"Why did she leave for Bastia?"

"A telegram," answers Barnes, "purporting to come from you stating that you would be at that place to-morrow morning. Notwithstanding her fatigue, she went on by carriage to meet you."

"A telegram? Impossible! Bastia is at the north end of the island. I arrived at Ajaccio, the south end. Besides, I sent no telegram."

Edwin is interrupted by a short cry from Barnes: "Cipriano Danella!"

With an exclamation Anstruther asks hoarsely: "Do you think he has ought to do with this?"

"I am pretty certain of it. You do not realize that fellow's passion for—"

"For my wife? By heaven, I'll kill him!" and the young English officer looks round to call the boy who has come with him, but the urchin, being eager for bed, is already out of hearing with the horse. Suddenly he cries: "Barnes, you're not going to leave Enid here unprotected," for the American is almost running down the avenue, Edwin after him.

"I haven't found my wife."

"The lady upstairs, whom I heard?"

"Was not Enid. It was that infernal La Belle Blackwood, and yet I forgive her, for she told me the direction she thought Enid had taken," and as they half trot, half stride down the avenue under the chestnut trees, Burton epitomizes his adventures of the day.

"What are you going to do now?"

"Get horses and follow your wife. She is the one to which we have a clew. We must prevent her falling into Danella's hands. Perhaps—I pray God—in following her we may find also the way to my wife."

"Why?"

"Because Cipriano is the real brains of this infernal outrage."

As they reach the gateway of the grounds they are abruptly intercepted. One of the young Bellacoscia, hidden in a tree, springs out to them, gun in hand, but recognizing Mr. Barnes, the young man says: "I am one of those watching that no Salicetti troubles you. I let this man pass because I saw he was a foreigner."

"That's all right," replies Burton, "but could you show me the telegraph station and where to get horses?"

"That's the fatal Mouvrazes in the main street is the telegraph station," answers the young man, "and a stable to hire horses is at the inn."

"Thank you. Also I want to see your chief, if he hasn't already gone to the mountains."

"Is it important?"

"Very."

"Then Signore Antonio will be here in a few minutes," answers the young fellow and speeds off through a neighboring lane.

The two hurry to the inn, but Bocognano has gone to bed. Its houses are all unlighted, their doors are locked. In this land of the vendetta, even at the auberge, people hesitate to open for unknown travelers knocking on the portal.

There will be no chance to telegraph to Bastia or any way station on that road before to-morrow morning. It is nearly an hour before they succeed in arousing a somnolent hostler at the inn stables, who mutters all the horses are tired and must have a night's rest. But stimulated by a gold piece placed in his sleepy hand the man finally awakens sufficiently to saddle two horses, which he says are the liveliest of any in the stable.

On two sorry beasts they dash up to Marina's home and find waiting on its steps the great bandit and one or two of his men.

"I have a favor to ask you, Signore Bonelli, in addition to the others you have done me; that you will escort to the yacht at Sagone the lady within this house and get her safely out of Corsica."

"Oh, you needn't ask that, Mr. Barnes of New York," cries La Belle Blackwood, stepping airily onto the veranda. "I have already petitioned the great Bellacoscia, and I think he will protect me against any man; won't you, Signore Bonelli?" The softness of her sweet voice is a caress.

"Sapristi, will not!" says the magnificent man, his hawk's eyes flashing as they look upon the loveliness of the entrancing American adventuress. "Count on Bonelli to his heart's blood."

Then he asks moodily: "But why are you compelled to leave your wife, Signore Barnes?"

"This lady is not my wife."

"Santa Maria, not your wife! Gran Dio, whose spouse is she?"

"Nobody's."

"Diavola suprema!" cries the great bandit, a tremendous joy flying into his face. "And you—you leave this loveliness?" he adds, as if he cannot understand.

"Her loveliness is not mine, Signore Bonelli," remarks Burton, coldly. "Besides, it is a matter of life and death that calls me. This gentleman—"

Barnes introduces Edwin—"is the husband of Mademoiselle Paoli, who has been lured from here by a lying telegram to Bastia. We journey to protect her against a design upon her safety—upon even her honor. Lieut. Anstruther, unused to the language, would be of little use."

"Design against the honor of the daughter of the Paoli!" snarls Bonelli. "Impossible! I will go with you upon this errand myself."

But the enchanting tones of Sally Blackwood make him pause; she is pleading: "What, and desert me among your wild mountains?"

"No, 'tis best I go not," remarks the bandit chief. "Gendarmes, with me in your company, would be an embarrassment, and they in their bungling way may doubtless aid you. And your wife, where is she, Signore Barnes?"

"Still in the hands of Salicetti or his friends."

"They did not surrender her as they agreed?"

"No. They substituted this lady."

"Corpo di Diavolo, Salicetti has tricked me! I proclaim a vendetta against Bernardo Eduardo Salicetti!"

CHAPTER XVI.

Along the Cyclamen Path.

Both young men are riding light; Barnes for this speedy dash has left his rifle and his field glasses behind him, and they gallop up the pass of the Force. But the ascent is so steep they are soon compelled to walk their horses. A precipice is on one side of them and the great flanks of Del Oro are on the other. Both Edwin and Burton have been silent, thinking of their wives. The latter now remarks, pointing to a deep gorge running up the mountain side: "That, I believe, leads to La Pintica, the home of the Bellacoscia, which the gendarmes never dare to visit."

But they having reached the summit of the Col, now speed their horses sharply down the declivities into the great forest of Vizzavona, the road leading them through pines, beeches and the inevitable chestnut trees.

They have passed no one in the darkness. In fact, they have not yet gone far enough to have any hope of overtaking Marina unless accident has befallen her vehicle. Besides, her horses were fresh; theirs, according to the hostler, had been ridden during the preceding day.

Soon after, they dash through the village of Vivario, announced by the barking of some curs and the grunting of some pigs. "Every house in the village is closed and no one would open for us in the dead of night in this land of the vendetta," remarks Barnes.

They go to climbing again, and soon after descend through the gorge of the rapid Vecchio, the river foaming far beneath the road, while rocky hills and sharp mountains rise on either side.

They have knocked at no doors; they have made no inquiries; they have only hurried on. But some hour after the red-tiled houses of Corte loom up before them and a few minutes later they jog their tired steeds up one of the principal streets of the central inland town of Corsica, the great Monte Rotondo now looking down upon them.

Above them are tall elm trees that catch the rays of the rising sun. Flanked on each side by white stone, red-roofed houses, they pass between the hotels Pierracci and Paoli, almost deserted now, this being the beginning of the hot summer season. Along the street are many placards indicating the approaching election. Every time he sees the name of Salicetti, Barnes, compressing his lips, thinks of his lost darling.

At the Pierracci they learn from one of the waiters that a lady had paused to obtain a relay of horses, and had brought out to her at her request a cup of coffee.

"Was she driven by an old man?" questions Edwin, hurriedly.

"Yes, with a beard like a bandit," answers the man with a grin. "The carriage was full of cyclamen flowers. You could smell them all over the street."

"It's your wife," whispers Barnes, giving the man a 20-franc piece that makes him look almost as happy as this news does Anstruther.

"Only an hour ago! We will overtake Marina long before she reaches Bastia," cries Edwin.

They ride hurriedly, the road skirting the torrent of the foaming Vecchio until considerably over an hour after leaving Corte they reach Ponte-allecchio, where the big bridge crosses the river Golo. During this the horsemen note more signs of the coming casting of votes.

Some of the "Lucchese" workmen from Italy are throwing stones at an election placard that displeases them.

"The pests from Lucca," mutters a Corsican shopkeeper as they buy a glass of wine from him, "are always riotous, and at election times batter every one's heads with stones—their own included. They've been here since sunrise fighting and brawling. I heard their shouts when I was in bed. But everyone pardons the 'Lucchese'; they do all our hard work," adds the man with a grin, pocketing the coin Edwin hands him.

But the wine shop keeper can tell them nothing of a woman traveling, and to their astonishment, though they make many inquiries, they hear of no lady in a carriage passing through the village this morning.

"It's quite possible," says Edwin to Barnes, "she didn't stop here. Her horses were fresh. She's gone on. No one has noticed her."

"That's very true," answers Burton, though his face grows more concerned and gloomy.

Therefore they ride rapidly along over the now well-kept road, which generally skirts the Golo. Turning north, they spur on over the causeway that crosses the great lagoons and soon after passing through some small villages, they come out upon the sea and ride almost straight along its shores, to enter that miniature Genoa, called Bastia, some two hours before midday.

Barnes pilots his companion to the Hotel de France. "You should like this inn," he observes; "it's on the Boulevard Paoli."

Catching sight of a gentleman in a tall hat and a swallowtail coat, Barnes says: "These are the only ones in Corsica, I think, and that's Monsieur Staffe, the head of the hotel. I know him. Now we'll get news of your wife; she's probably put up here."

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

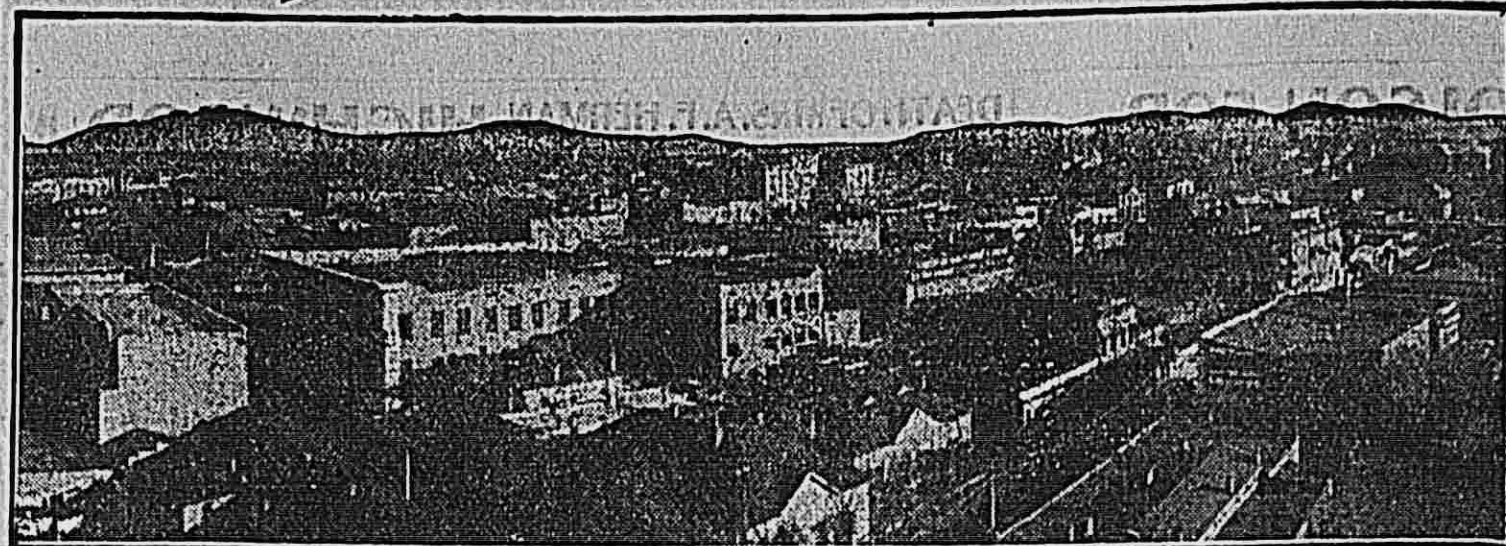

Hurry.

To our own age belongs the credit of having raised hurry from the degraded position of a disease to that of a commercial process. Formerly hurry simply brought people to an early grave, with nothing to show for it, whereas now it is become the means of transforming peace of mind, which is a solecism, to say the best of it, into ready money. Hurry has grown to be a great fact in life. Even the fashions take account of it, until women are found doing up their hair in such a way that they may go the speed limit without fear of its coming down. And the best of hurry is that it is its own sufficient justification. Nobody expects hurry to have any particular reason behind it any more—Life.

Flying Ship in 1709.

In the Evening Post, a London newspaper published in the reign of Queen Anne, bearing date the 20-22 December, 1709, there is a curious description of a flying ship, stated to have been invented by Bartolomeo Lorenzo, a Brazilian priest. The paper has an engraving of the airship and a long description. The inventor claimed that he could travel 200 miles in 24 hours

MARK TWAIN ON MONEY.

Humorist Points Out What He Considers Some Wrong Conceptions.

Mark Twain said that the financial panic has caused a wrong idea of the use and value of money.

"The spendthrift says that money, being round, was made to roll. The miser says that, being flat, it was made to stack up. Both are wrong."

"Strangely wrong, too, in their ideas about money are the veteran Australian gold diggers. These simple old fellows, though worth perhaps a half million or more, live in the simple dug-outs and shanties of their lean early days."

"Once, lecturing, I landed at an Australian port. There was no porter in sight to carry my luggage. Seeing a rough-looking old fellow leaning against a post with his hands in his pockets, I beckoned to him and said: 'See here, if you carry these bags up to the hotel I'll give you half a crown.'"

"The man scowled at me. He took three or four gold sovereigns from his pocket, threw them into the sea, scowled at me again, and walked away without a word."

HE IS.

She is your brother still the same level-headed, sensible fellow he used to be?

He—Yes, he is still a bachelor, His Double Grief.

It was sentence day in the city court. A man in the prisoners' pen, who had been sentenced to two years for larceny, began to cry softly. The big man next him, who was going to serve seven years for bigamy, said:

"Aw, wotcher sniffin' about?"

"I'm—I'm—th-th-thinkin' about leavin' (sob) my—my—family. Lea-leavin' my wife—"

"Aw, cut it out! Look at me. I ain't cryin', am I? An' I'm leavin' two of 'em."—"Jack" Cramer in Everybody's.

Suggestive.

Towne—There was a spelling-bee down at our church the other night. The pastor gave out the words. Did you hear about it?

Trowne—No; was it interesting?

Towne—Rather. The first three words he gave out were "increase," "pastor," "salary."—Stray Stories.

A lazy man will not work himself so long as he can work others.

Youthful Logic.

Mrs. L., a young and inexperienced Sunday school teacher, was at times sorely perplexed how to answer the questions put to her by some of her unusually bright pupils. One day just after she had finished telling the children the story that Adam was the first man God created quiet reigned in the classroom for several minutes. Suddenly up jumped little Rose, and in a piping voice said: "Oh, teacher, you forgot to tell us whether God created Adam right away a man or a baby!"

Embarrassed, Mrs. L. looked up to the ceiling and then to the children for an inspiration. Happily she quickly spied Betty's little hand raised above the others eager to answer the question.

"Teacher, I am surprised my sister Rosie should ask such a foolish question. Why, God must have created Adam right away a big man, because if God had created him a baby he would have had to have a mother to take care of him."

Wheels.

He was a great inventor.

"The thing I am working at now, he began, stroking his thin beard with a thinner hand, "will be a boon to every family and will startle the whole world. In fact, it will put the alarm clock trust out of business. The idea is simply specially prepared tablets that help you get up in the morning."

"For instance, if you want to arise at five you take five tablets; if you want to get up at six take six tablets; and so on."

"But how will it affect the alarm clock trust?"

"Why, these tablets will cause a ringing in the ears at exactly the hour desired—"

But the little crowd could wait to hear no more and hurriedly disbanded. —Harper's Weekly.

Griefs That Die Unspoken.

Read what the singing women—one to ten thousand of the suffering women—tell us, and think of the griefs that die unspoken! Nature is in earnest when she makes a woman; and there are women enough lying in the next church yard with very commonplace blue slate stones at their head and feet, for whom it was just as true that "all sounds of life assumed one tone of love," as for Letitia Landon, of whom Elizabeth Browning said it; but she could give words to her grief, and they could not—Holmes.

Rally Cries.

"So you couldn't hear much of what the speaker said?"

"No. His delivery was all right, but between the yells of 'louder' and 'order' he didn't have much chance."—Kansas City Times.

Physical culture is excellent, but don't neglect to exercise your discretion.—Pooh Richard, Jr.

WENT HIM MANY BETTER.

Mr. Newrich's Visiting Card Left Friend in the Shade.

Mr. Newrich, the dust contractor, having made a fortune, part of which he had invested in house property in the east of London, wished to rise, like a Phoenix, from his ashes into some sort of society. His golden key, applied to the coffers of an impecunious aristocrat, opened the way.

His new friend, among other things, advised him that visiting cards were a necessity, and, as a guide to drawing one up ready for the printer, handed him one of his own, which read, "Harold De Vere, Iona House, Portsmouth Square, W."

Two days later, as De Vere was sitting in his dressing room at breakfast, a servant brought in on a salver a visiting card bearing the following: "Ephraim Newrich, I Own 23 Houses, London, E."

HER PROTECTOR.

"Here, nurse! Who's that young chap that's always following you around? I he a beau of yours?"

"Oh, no, sir. Dat's Jimmie Hawkshaw, de detective. I hires him to protect me from kidnappers an' things!"

Instrumental Music.

That a word may convey vastly different meanings when differently used is amusingly illustrated by a story from the Brooklyn Life.

"Have ye heard me daughter Mona sing lately?" asked Mr. Dugan.

"Both lately and early," said Mr. Hogan. "'Tis the fine instrumental music she do make."

"Ye ignoramus! Sure, singing ain't instrumental music!" indignantly replied Mr. Dugan.

"Keegan told me it was instrumental in causing him to move two blocks away from yer house."—Youth's Companion.

The Way It's Said.

"These are the bridal rooms," announced the bellboy to the blushing young couple.

"O, what a sweet suite!" exclaimed the bride.

"I don't know anything about that," said the bellboy, "but the head clerk says he hopes the suit suits."

ADMIRE NERVE OF PAIR SEX.

Masculine Observer Concedes Their Superiority in One Respect.

"The time I most admire a woman," said the gray-headed man, "is when she tries to get a bill changed. I admire her then for her splendid courage. Give a woman a ten-dollar bill that she wants changed and she will walk unconcernedly into any shop in town and request the proprietor to give her two fives or ten ones or whatever denomination she happens to need. She never offers to buy anything to compensate him for his trouble. I have known my wife to get change from a grocer, a butcher, a druggist, a stationer, a cigar dealer and a florist without spending one cent in their stores. And all those tradesmen were perfect strangers. She simply wanted change and walked in and asked for it.

"Contrast her calm serenity with the dishrag will of the average man in need of change. He would rather be shot than just ask for it. He will buy something as an excuse for the transaction, even if it is something that he couldn't make use of this side of doomsday and that he has to throw away the minute he turns the corner. In the matter of economy alone it is a pity he can't be as brave as a woman."

Vice of Idleness.

Idleness covers a man with rags.—German Proverb.

Rheumatism

I have found a tried and tested cure for Rheumatism. Not a remedy that will straighten the distorted limbs of chronic cripples, nor turn bony growths back to flesh again. That is impossible. But I can surely kill the pains and paralyze this deplorable disease.

In Germany—with a Chemist in the City of Heidelberg—I found the last ingredients with which Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy was made. A perfected, dependable prescription. Without any harmful ingredients, but now, at last, it is ready to cure all cases of Rheumatism, whether it be of the joints, muscles, or bones. Those who have suffered from this terrible disease, seem to dissolve away under the action of this remedy as frost does upon the snow. There is no more pain, and the system, and the cause of Rheumatism is gone forever. There is now no need—no actual excuse to suffer longer without help. We sell, and in confidence recommend

WHEN "CUB" SHOWED UP LATE.

His Excuse Was One That Few of the Tribe Could Make.

The average newspaper reporter is a young man generally not possessed of too much money and who considers himself lucky if he is able to square accounts from week to week. But there is one newspaper reporter in New York who does not have to bother about financial problems. He rides down to the office of his paper every day in his own automobile. The young man is the son of a wealthy iron manufacturer. He is a reporter of the common or garden variety on an afternoon newspaper and so far has managed to hold on to his job.

He showed up so late at his office the other morning that his city editor inquired, somewhat sarcastically, whether he thought he was working on a morning newspaper.

The cub tapped his highly polished tan shoes with his slender cane, flicked a bit of dust from his clothes and struck the city editor dumb by replying:

"Well, you see, my man failed to wake me up on time."

Piles are easily and quickly checked with Dr. Shoop's Magic Ointment. To prove it I will mail a small trial box as a convincing test. Simply address Dr. Shoop, Racine Wis. The Freaks of Disease.

No medical man needs to be told that even disease has its freaks, and that recovery has occasionally been brought about by means inexplicably trivial. One of the most remarkable of these unaccountable eccentricities of disease took place at Halver, in Westphalia. The case was that of a boy who, as the result of a very heavy fall backward on his head while skating, had for a year and a half been deaf and dumb. One morning his brother went to awake him, and finding him sleeping heavily tapped him lightly on the forehead. To his amazement the deaf and dumb boy awoke with a loud cry. Both speech and hearing had been restored.—Kansas City Journal.

MAIDENS NO LONGER ROMANTIC.

"Prince Charming" of To-day Must Have Fat Bank Account.

There's no romance left in the world, anyway. Time was when girls dreamed of Prince Charming, and didn't bother about anything less important than the color of his eyes and the way he tied his cravat. Now they're thinking of a bank account so large that almost any man will be quite indistinguishably hidden behind it. They're doing worse than that. I overheard two mites of girls, neither of them older than 13, exchanging confidences recently. The shorter one said she meant to be an architect, and earn her own living.

"But if you'd marry a rich man you wouldn't have to," objected the taller girl.

The midget screwed up her face shrewdly.

"You can't never tell about money," she said. "He might go and lose it, and then where'd I be with him to support if I couldn't work?"

"And would you have to support him?" asked the first girl, a bit awestruck.

The other nodded.

"I'd give him car fare every morning and 15 cents for lunch," she said, magnanimously.—Washington Herald.

The American Wife.

Your wife doesn't want you to love her more. She wants you to show it more. She doesn't want more indulgence. She wants more life. She wants a broader life, not that she may neglect her fundamental duties as a wife and as a mother, but that she may bring to these duties more wisdom, more experience. She wants, in short, the square deal which she had a right to expect when you married her. Her desire is more than a desire. It is an instinct; an instinct born in her by sex heredity. The husband who disregards this instinct will wake up some day to find his marriage a wreck of unrealized hopes.—Appleton's.

Ideal Determines the Character.

Keep your ideal constantly before you, never lost sight of it. The idealists have transformed the world and spurred their kind on to effort and accomplishment. They have made us great by mingling with our daily pursuits transcendent conceptions, and have thrown around our daily life, our sensuous life, the grandeur of a better.

GUARD FOR GEN. WASHINGTON.

Soldiers So Honored Chose for Their Motto "Conquer or Die."

By general order 11 dated at Valley Forge, March 17, 1778, 100 men were selected from the army to be annexed to the guard of the commander-in-chief. The guard then existing numbered 80 Virginians and for that reason it was ordered that the new members be taken from the troops of other states. It was further prescribed that the men must be Americans born, 20 to 30 years, five feet eight to five feet ten, of "robust constitution; well limbed and men of established characters for sobriety and fidelity." The official designation of this force was the commander-in-chief's guard, but it was commonly known as the life guard and Washington's body guard. Its first commandant was Capt. Caleb Gibbs of Rhode Island. He was in turn succeeded by William Colfax of New Jersey, who had been made lieutenant of the corps when it was first brought into being. The motto of the life guard was "Conquer or Die." Capt. Colfax eventually attained the rank of general. His grandson was Schuyler Colfax.

As Amended.

Time—A year after they had faced the parson together.

"When we were first married you said you thought heaven had sent you to me," remarked his wife. "Do you still think so?"

"Yes—as a punishment," answered the brutal other half of the combine.

Not in Plutarch. Caesar was not deficient in a rugged sense of humor. After he had crossed the Rubicon he said to Calpurnius: "Well, my gloomy friend, what do you think of this business?"

Simplicius shook his head.

"Caesar," he bluntly replied, "I think you are on the wrong side."

The conqueror of Gaul laughed merrily.

"That's all right," he cried. "Just before I crossed I had a severe pain, and as I didn't want it on the right side—which might have indicated appendicitis—I crossed to the other side."

And still chuckling he gave orders to encamp for the night.

Caught Milk Thief on Fishing Line.

After numerous bottles of milk had been stolen from his window on the first floor of No. 318 East One Hundredth street, Henry Cantrowitz rigged up 40 feet of line on a spool, hooked one end to a newly deposited bottle and with the spool in front of him watched for a "bite."

When the spool moved rapidly across the floor to the window sill he followed. And as it danced down the street pointed it out to a policeman.

Harry Wolf, on the other end, was fined two dollars in the Harlem court.

MANUFACTURER'S OUTLET SALE

$20,000 WORTH OF MERCHANDISE
Bought from a New York Manufacturers at Less Than Cost to Manufacture

POSITIVELY THE MOST GIGANTIC MERCHANDISING EVENT IN THE HISTORY OF WAUKEGAN
This Mighty Sale Commences Thursday, May 21st, and Continues to and Include Friday, May 29th

We are safe in saying that never in the history of Lake County has a sale of such gigantic proportions been known. When you read the following details you will know why we are enabled to make such startling offers. A number of New York's largest Manufacturing concerns united in holding a great sale. The object of this sale was to clean up their vast surplus stocks of spring and summer merchandise. They sent to the leading dealers of each city of any importance in the United States a notice that on a certain date they would unite in holding a great sale, calling it the Manufacturer's Outlet Sale. Their surplus lines were considerably heavier than in previous seasons and as it was time for them to begin making Fall and Winter goods, they must do something and right quick in order to rid their store rooms of this surplus. They necessarily were obliged to look to the merchants of this great country for an outlet. They considered The Globe the biggest and heaviest sellers of merchandise in Waukegan, so notified us of their intentions to sell their stock at far below cost of manufacture. We at once notified our eastern representative to be early on the scene of sale to by $20,000 worth of the best bargains. The result is that our store is now filled with the grandest and most desirable assortment of merchandise that has ever been offered for sale in Lake County. Bear in mind that this $20,000 purchase gives you an opportunity to buy many lines of the highest quality up to the minute merchandise at nearly one-half their value—while the prices on our regular stock have been mercilessly slaughtered. As a result there is not an article or yard of merchandise in this entire establishment but what is offered at a wonderful saving. We are bountifully supplied with every line of merchandise advertised but naturally some things will be cleaned up quicker than others so we advise you to come early.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Congress expects to adjourn May 23 or 25. It will leave behind it a long record of good work neglected.

It is a wise politician who does not monkey with the buzz-saw—especially when Mr. Roosevelt is running the saw.

The two Senators from Connecticut telegraphed their state convention that they would not obey in instructions to vote for Taft at Chicago. Accordingly the state convention decided that the two senators had better stay at home, and elected and instructed others.

The most conservative honest statement of Secretary Taft's political strength gives him 418 votes, instructed for him or otherwise pledged, up to the evening of May 9. By the close of May 15 he will have enough delegates actually instructed to insure his nomination on the first ballot, which is precisely what President has been predicting all along.

Speaker Cannon and his cohorts in the management of the House have sought to cripple the administration by limiting the work of the Secret Service men to detecting counterfeiters and guarding the President. The Secret Service has been too vigilant in detecting land and timber robbers, procuring evidence with which to prosecute rebating railroads, etc. The President is exerting every evidence to get the law changed in the Senate and Senator Allison believes he can accomplish the wishes of the Executive.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling all about it, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper.

Continues With Great Success

WE wish to thank our many friends and patrons for their support in having made our store the most successful enterprise in Lake County. About three years ago we commenced in a small store in Waukegan, which was not centrally located and the continuous growth of our business is no more than should be expected, and now we are located in the very heart of the business section of Waukegan, in the old Higley building two doors north of Washington street on Genesee. This makes it more convenient for our patrons. Such merchandise as is shown by us, purchased and carried into almost every home in Lake County must necessarily make its unequalled merits generally known and we positively guarantee to give our customers still greater bargains than ever as our buying facilities for three stores enables us to inevitably convince you more and more of this fact

Trial bottle free.

Settled the Whole Question. Rev. William Carter discussed at a dinner in New York his successful experiment of conducting services in the Belasco theater. "One of my theater auditors," he said, "was a Scot from Peebles. This Scot told me that the sight of a clergyman in a theater reminded him of an experience he once had in London. He went to a melodrama at Drury Lane. A man in front of him looked familiar. To his surprise he recognized in this man his minister at Peebles. He leaned forward and laid his hand on the minister's black coat. 'Oh, Dr. Saunders McIntosh,' he whispered, 'what was the people in the audit kirk say if I tell them I saw ye here?' 'Deed, they wadna believe ye,' Dr. Saunders answered quickly, 'and ye needna tell

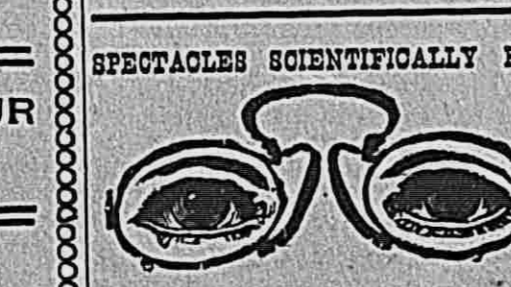

When you think of indigestion think of Kodol, for it is without doubt the only preparation that completely digests all classes of food. And that is what you need when you have indigestion or stomach trouble—something that will act promptly but thoroughly; something that will get right at the trouble and do the very work itself for the stomach by digesting the food that you eat and that is Kodol. It is pleasant to take. It is sold by J. H. Swan.

Mistake, Maybe.

A young man who boards on the West side doesn't know whether his landlady made a mistake or meant to give him a quiet dig. He told the story of one of his own exploits at the dinner table the other evening—he has a hearty appetite, by the way—and concluded with the remark: "That may sound awfully exaggerated to you folks, but I give you my word it's perfectly true."

"Oh, Mr. Tawker," the lady of the house hastened to assure him, "I'm sure no one who knows you would ever doubt your voracity."—Kansas City Times.

The trouble with most cough cures is that they constipate. Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup does not constipate, but on the other hand its laxative principles gently move the bowels. It is pleasant to take and it is especially recommended for children, as it tastes nearly as good as maple sugar. Sold by J. H. Swan.

Substitutes for Hello. "Yes," said the telephone girl, "the word 'Hello,' is going out as an introduction to wire talks. There was a time when everybody used it, but now people are trying to get away from it, I guess. I am for one, I know."

"What are the substitutes? Well, they are many and various. I've just used one. What is it? Why, it's 'Well.' Lots of folk announce themselves for 'Well' nowadays. Others say 'yes' with a rising inflection. Men, when they get a connection, are apt to say, 'That you?' It all helps to break up the monotony, and there's a big field for originality in the innovations."

Weak women should read my "Book No. 4 For Women". It was written expressly for woman who are not well. The Book No. 4 tells of Dr. Shoop's Night Cure "and just how these soothing, healing, antiseptic suppositories can be successfully applied. The book, and strictly confidential medical advice is entirely free. Write Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. The Night Cure is sold by J. H. Swan.

Ins and Outs. "What's that noise?" asked the visitor in the apartment house. "Probably some one in the dentist's apartment on the floor below getting a tooth out."

"But this seemed to come from the floor above."

"Ah! then it's probably the Popleys' baby getting a tooth in."

Insist upon DeWitt's With Hazel Salve. There are substitutes, but there is only one original. It is healing, soothing and cooling and is especially good for piles. Sold by J. H. Swan.

CONFERENCE ENDED

ITS RESULTS ARE AMPLE BUT NOT YET CLEARLY SEEN.

RECORD IS TO BE PRINTED

Declaration of Co-Operation Is Adopted and Permanent Organization Will Be Formed—Last Session Is Interesting.

Washington. — The first conference of the governors of the states of the American union ended Friday. Like many of the important events of history, time is needed to reveal the epoch which the president and the governors believe has been made.

The accomplishments of the conference, which had been in session at the White House for three days, cannot be set forth with mathematical precision. That its immediate results are more than ample is the expression of President Roosevelt, who brought it about, and of the governors who participated.

Startling Facts Compiled.
The printed record of the conference, which later will be available to every American home, will be a compilation of facts, startling in their meaning, convincing in their universal conclusion that the states must act, and that the states and the nation must co-operate to the end that to the whole people of the nation may accrue the lasting benefit of its natural resources.

Besides the compilation of facts by the experts and the freely expressed opinion of the governors, the conference leaves as its permanent record a thousand words of "declaration." Not a "declaration of independence," but a "declaration of co-operation."

Perhaps greater in importance than all else was the determination of the governors to perfect a permanent organization whereby a heretofore unknown intimacy may be developed among the executives of the 46 sovereign states, made strong by a common purpose, and made potent by pronouncements which may not lightly be disregarded.

Set Program Discarded.

Of the last day the story is one of many features. The set program was swept aside. The president presided throughout. He interjected remarks and speeches. He brought to the platform men who made plain the prevailing feeling, that thought and care must be exercised for the future. The prepared papers were not presented, but they will be printed in the permanent record. Their place was taken first by the "declaration," which was adopted after discussion. Then William J. Bryan was presented by the president. He touched the same chords which had produced the vibration of harmony and co-operation. A governors' discussion brought many state executives to the platform but the product was altogether that of harmony, and the sentiments expressed were applauded alike by all.

President Roosevelt himself, answering the one criticism—that of Gov. Folk of Missouri—to the declaration, aroused the conference to its warmest demonstration of approval. He swept aside the "academic question" of where the line of authority should be drawn between the states and the nation. He wanted action, and what he said received indorsement at each period.

Mrs. Roosevelt Entertains.

The desire of Mrs. Roosevelt to entertain the governors was not thwarted even by the rain which fell drearily throughout the day. A garden party had been planned by her to be held in the south grounds of the White House during the late afternoon. The garden party was brought inside the White House, and lost none of its zest by the transformation. More than 1,500 guests were present. Afternoon and evening trains from Washington took many of the distinguished guests from the city, and the first conference of the nation on the conservation of its natural resources passed into history.

Mrs. Metaker Is Acquitted.

Cassopolis, Mich.—The acquittal of Mrs. Christina Metaker of South Bend, Ind., of the charge of murdering Carleton Morgan of South Bend, at three o'clock on the morning of April 10 outside the home of Mrs. Mae Green in this city, was the occasion of an unprecedented demonstration in court last Friday. Deaf to warnings and threats of arrest, the crowd cheered and clapped hands and sang. Several hundred people escorted Mrs. Metaker to the depot.

Illinois Sues for Fees.

Springfield, Ill.—Five suits in action of debt aggregating $1,750,000, and for damages of $150,000, were filed in the Sangamon county circuit court Friday by Attorney General William H. Stead and Gov. Charles S. Deneen against the sureties of former state treasurers and one former state auditor, for fees retained during their administrations for collecting interest on county, municipal and district bonds.

Art Dealer Is Arrested.

New York.—William Clausen, one of the most prominent art dealers in the city, was arrested Friday on a charge of having sold to William T. Evans, a well-known collector of paintings, a number of pictures as genuine which are alleged to be forgeries.

Girl Killed by Playmate.

Eau Claire, Wis.—Gertrude, 13-year-old daughter of Oramel Knapp of Brunswick, was accidentally shot and killed Friday by Henry Droege, a playmate.

GUNNESS VICTIM IS BURIED

HELGELEIN'S BODY INTERRED AFTER IDENTIFICATION.

Woman Herself Is Dead—Doubt Removed by Dentist's Examination of Jawbone Fragments.

Laporte, Ind.—The first of the Guinness victims to be interred with Christian rites was buried Friday night in Patton's cemetery, on the outskirts of Laporte. The corpse was that of Andrew K. Helgelein of Mansfield, S. D., the last man to meet his death in the trap to which Mrs. Guinness lured her victims.

The body was released for burial after Coroner Mack had received the reports of the Bertillon experts who have examined it and compared their findings with figures taken from the records of the Minnesota penitentiary at Stillwater.

The identification of the piece of jawbone taken from the ruins of the Guinness farmhouse as a portion of Mrs. Guinness' skull, bears out most conclusively the contentions of the state regarding the identity of the bodies found in the cellar on April 28. It is the clinching bit of evidence which should set at rest the rumors that Mrs. Guinness had escaped.

This statement was made by Ralph N. Smith, prosecuting attorney, Friday night. It followed a report from Dr. C. P. Norton, a dentist, who found that the piece of charred bone presented characteristic conditions which he had observed while working on Mrs. Guinness' teeth.

David Havens, for whom both the defense and state were said to have been searching, was found Friday at Gallien, Mich. He was one of the men who helped disinter the bodies from the ruins of the farmhouse and his departure from this vicinity had given rise to comment. He explained, in his communication to the city authorities, that he had merely gone to Michigan in search of work.

Another missing man also turned up in Charles Edmonds, a former employee of Mrs. Guinness, who was supposed to have been one of her victims. He has been working at a farm only a few miles from the Guinness place.

The Laporte county grand jury convened Monday morning for the purpose of taking up the Guinness case. Forty-one summonses for witnesses have already been served, and it is understood that at least ten more witnesses will be called, making 50 in all. The sessions of the grand jury will be secret. Ray Lamphere, who is being held on the charge of setting fire to the house which brought about the death of Mrs. Guinness and three children, will not be called as a witness.

SENATE PASSES ALDRICH BILL.

Substitutes It for Vreeland Measure Adopted by House.

Washington.—The Vreeland currency bill, which was passed by the house Thursday, was delivered to the senate Friday and at once sent to the committee on finance. Senator Aldrich promptly made a report from the committee substituting the Aldrich bill in an amended form for the house measure and in that form it was passed by the senate. This action threw the bill into conference, the house refusing to accept it.

Washington.—The Vreeland currency bill, agreed upon by the Republican caucus, was put through the house Thursday under a special rule by a vote of 184 to 145. Fifteen so-called insurgents of the majority party voted with the Democrats, who went on record solidly against the measure.

The great sundry civil appropriation bill, carrying a total of about $120,000,000, was passed by the senate. This is the last of the large supply bills, and its passage places the senate squarely alongside the house in the consideration of the appropriation bills, and of the entire 14 leaves only the general deficiency and the military academy bills to be considered by either house.

Two Killed in Collision.

Muskogee, Okla.—South-bound passenger train No. 5 on the Missouri, Kansas & Texas railroad, due to arrive in Muskogee at 11:20 Friday morning and running 50 minutes late, collided head-on three miles north of Muskogee at noon with a north-bound through freight. Two trainmen were killed and 15 passengers injured.

Midshipman Is Drowned.

Annapolis, Md.—Midshipman Arthur Linford Lucas of Cleveland, O., one of the graduating class, was drowned Sunday, and Midshipman Carl D. Hibbard of Northfield, Minn., who was with him at the time, nearly lost his own life in an effort to save that of his friend.

Omaha Has $500,000 Fire.

Omaha, Neb.—The old plant of the Omaha Packing company in South Omaha was destroyed by fire Friday night, together with 3,000,000 pounds of meat, involving a loss estimated at $500,000.

Light and Water Plant Burn.

Mayfield, Ky.—Fire Sunday night destroyed the electric light and water plant of this city, causing a loss of $40,000. Three newspaper publishing plants and two large factories will be shut down indefinitely as the result of the fire.

Wolverine's Recruiting Cruise.

Washington.—The United States gunboat Wolverine has been restored to recruiting duty and will make a cruise beginning at Sandusky, O., and extending to Chicago.

RATS IN THE WAREHOUSE.

TAFT BACK FROM ISTHMUS

SECRETARY RETURNS IN FINE HEALTH AND SPIRITS.

He Is Enthusiastic Over the Progress Made in Constructing the Great Panama Canal.

Charleston, S. C.—Secretary of War Taft arrived here from Panama at noon Sunday on board the cruiser Prairie, and after spending a few hours in the city, during which time he was met and greeted by a number of officials and friends, left for Washington at 5:55.

Mr. Taft sailed from this port for Panama on May 1 and completed his work and returned two days ahead of his schedule. He was in fine health and spirits. He said that his trip had been delightful and while he was kept very busy, he had enjoyed every moment of the time. He dined with Mayor Rhett and held an informal reception afterwards at the Charleston hotel.

The secretary talked freely with regard to general conditions in Panama, but said that he did not wish to be quoted on such matters as the relations of the United States and Panama, which had been suggested as a possible reason for his trip, and he would not discuss the coming elections to be held in Panama. He grew enthusiastic when telling of the excellent progress being made on the Panama canal and comparing the situation to that which greeted him on the occasion of his first visit to Panama in 1904.

"The isthmus now presents," he said, "an appearance not unlike a factory or mill village, or succession of villages clear across, and the lights at night, and the noises, too, might keep one awake if not tired enough to sleep well."

When asked as to the possibilities of concluding the work, Mr. Taft said: "If it was only a matter of digging the ditch, I should suppose three years were enough time at the present excellent rate of progress. But there are other things that we cannot estimate at this time. The work on the locks has not begun, except, of course, in the beginning of the Gatun dam. But everything seems encouraging, and it is such a great undertaking that we will not be thinking of hurry or worry. It is going ahead satisfactorily and that is gratifying."

Resist Freight Rate Increase.

Chicago. — Delegates from 50 commercial organizations, representing most of the trade interests of the east and middle west of this country, Friday in conference at the Congress hotel took decisive action to prevent the proposed increase in freight rates by the railroads east of the Mississippi and north of the Ohio river. As a result of the day's work the leaders among the business men feel that the move of the railroads to saddle an additional $100,000,000 in freight charges on the shippers of the territory described has been checked.

Temple for Springfield Masons.

Springfield, Ill.—With imposing ceremonies and with a parade of all the Masonic bodies in the city, the cornerstone of the new Masonic temple, to cost $100,000, was laid Thursday afternoon by the grand lodge of Illinois.

Socialists Nominate Debs.

Chicago. — Amid charges of gag rule and excitement verging upon the riotous, Eugene V. Debs once more was selected as the presidential nominee of the Socialist party at an early hour Friday morning.

Fights Madman in Mid Air.

St. Louis.—Fighting a raving maniac, armed with a leg of an iron cot, on a platform three feet square, 85 feet above the ground, was the experience of Patrolman John H. Omohundro Sunday when he captured George Gall, aged 40 years, a patient at a city hospital. Gall escaped from his room and made his way to the cupola. With his improvised weapon he beat off all attendants who sought to capture him. Policemen were called and Omohundro volunteered to mount a small iron ladder to the platform.

RIOTING IN CLEVELAND.

Violence Attends Strike of the Street Car Employees.

Cleveland, O. — Rioting and violence, although not serious, marked the strike of the conductors and motormen on the lines of the Municipal Traction Company here.

The strike order was given Saturday following a stormy all-night meeting of the car men. The order went into immediate effect. From the beginning there was trouble in getting the cars out. One of the first disturbances of any consequence took place at the Lakewood car barns, where Chief of Police Kahler was struck by a stone hurled at the police by strike sympathizers. An effort to move the cars from the Lakewood barns was opposed by the strikers.

Cars were stopped in all sections of the city by the strikers and their friends. A Payne avenue car was detained by a rail thrown across the tracks. The crew on a St. Clair avenue car were dragged from the car and assaulted. The motorman's scalp was laid open. On East Nineteenth street a mob of 50 men tore up the car tracks and traffic was stopped.

Cleveland, O. — Comparative quiet prevailed here Sunday. There were several disturbances, but they amounted to little. The Municipal Traction company, whose men are on strike, gave much better service than on Saturday.

DECIDES FOR ROOSEVELT.

Court Declares President Had Right to Dismiss a Negro Soldier.

New York. — The right of President Roosevelt summarily to dismiss a negro soldier of the Twenty-fifth infantry for alleged participation in the riot at Brownsville, Tex., was sustained Friday by Judge Hough in the United States district court.

Oscar W. Reid, the soldier, sued the government to recover $122 as wages from the date of his dismissal to the expiration of his enlistment. District Attorney Stimson contended that the president had a right to dismiss the soldier. Judge Hough sustained this contention and directed a judgment in favor of the government.

BANDITS TAKE AWAY $35,000.

Rob New Mexico Station—Are Pursued by Bloodhounds.

El Paso, Tex.—Pursued by men and bloodhounds, three bandits with $35,000 of loot in their possession fled through the rugged mountain passes north of French, a little station 80 miles from East Las Vegas, N. M., on the Santa Fe railroad, in an effort to escape the clutches of the law.

At French Thursday afternoon they broke down the door of the depot, bound and gagged the station agent and special guard, blew open the safe, took the money and rode away, leaving their victims helpless.

Bishop of Cleveland Dead.

Canton, O.—Rt. Rev. Ignatius F. Hartsman, bishop of the Catholic diocese of Cleveland, was stricken with heart failure here Wednesday after having celebrated mass at St. John's church. He remained unconscious for some time but finally responded to stimulants. Later, however, he suffered another attack and died at 9:30 o'clock.

Fleet Leaves San Francisco.

San Francisco.—The Atlantic fleet of battleships, after 12 days of naval pageantry and merry-making in San Francisco harbor, sailed Monday morning at ten o'clock for Puget Sound.

Two Shot in Family Feud.

Milledgeville, Ga.—Willard A. Brewer, aged 23, was shot and killed near here Saturday by his father, Dan Brewer. The father in turn was shot by another son and is in a serious condition. Threats made by the father against his wife are said to have started the trouble.

Detroit Business Man Dies.

Decatur, Ill.—A. L. Johnson, a business man of Detroit, Mich., died on a Wabash train near this city Sunday of heart failure.

FOUND THE CAUSE.

After Six Years of Misery and Wrong Treatment.

John A. Enders, of Robertson Avenue, Pen Argyl, Pa., suffered for six years with stinging pain in the back, violent headaches and dizzy spells, and was assured by a specialist that his kidneys were all right, though the secretions showed a reddish, brick-dust sediment. Not satisfied, Mr. Enders started using Doan's Kidney Pills.

"The kidneys began to act more regularly," he says, "and in a short time I passed a few gravel stones. I felt better right away and since then have had no kidney trouble."

AMENITIES.

"And you call yourself honest?"

Huh!"

"Sir, I keep the commandments."

"That must be because you've got an idea that they belong to somebody else."

Not Such a Fool.

John was a Chinaman. He had been employed as a cook in a family in San Francisco. During many years he never failed to be at his post of duty. One morning, as usual, the family assembled for breakfast, but John was nowhere to be seen, nor did he send word what had happened to him. After several weeks he re-appeared with the symptoms of a severe cold still clinging to him. The master of the house greeted him by saying: "Well, John, we were wondering what had happened to you; but I see you have caught cold." John indignantly protested, saying: "Oh, no, sir; me no catches coldie, me no such foolie; coldie come to me."

Too Much of a "Drawing Card."

"Dear William," wrote the old man to the youth at college, "I'm shore glad to hear that you air sich a 'drawin' card' thar, but I knowed it long 'fore you tol' me. Howsomer, thar's drawin' an' drawin', but thar's one kind which I must draw the line on here an' now, an' that is the sort that draws on me for $50 when I'm least expectin'. You put Greek an' Latin in yer letters, sometimes, for good measure, I suppose, but I notice that when you draw on me it's allus in plain United States. I want you to go through all right, but I don't want you to bill me through. Gimme a livin' chance to rest up. I'm tired!"

His Quick Recovery.

"I was so glad," said Mrs. Oldcastle, "to see Dr. Goodleigh in the pulpit again last Sunday. He had such a time of it. Dear me, it must be perfectly dreadful to have one's appendix removed. I dread it so that I don't know what I should do if I had to undergo an operation. They said, when the doctor went to the hospital, that he wouldn't be out again for a month or more."

Do Organ's Busted.

In a little church in Maryland, not far from Washington, the motive power for the organ comes from the strong arm of an industrious Irishman. During a recent service there the choir got into trouble and, to cap the climax, during the confusion that ensued, the organ suddenly stopped.

The situation was not greatly relieved when there came floating out into the auditorium a hoarse whisper: "Sing, all you! Sing like the devil! Do organ's busted.—Illustrated Sunday Magazine."

FIT THE GROCER

Wife Made the Suggestion.

A grocer has excellent opportunity to know the effects of special foods on his customers. A Cleveland grocer has a long list of customers that have been helped in health by leaving off coffee and using Postum Food Coffee.

He says, regarding his own experience: "Two years ago I had been drinking coffee, and must say that I was almost wrecked in my nerves."

"Particularly in the morning I was so irritable and upset that I could hardly wait until the coffee was served, and then I had no appetite for breakfast, and did not feel like attending to my store duties."

"One day my wife suggested that inasmuch as I was selling so much Postum, there must be some merit in it and suggested that we try it. I took home a package and she prepared it according to directions. The result was a very happy one. My nervousness gradually disappeared, and today I am all right. I would advise everyone afflicted in any way with nervousness or stomach troubles, to leave off coffee and use Postum Food Coffee."

"There's a Reason." Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

INTERMITTENTLY.

Tourist—What are you jumping up like that for, me good man?
Howling Dervish—Yeow! Dog of an unbeliever, I'm elevating my mind.

If an Advertisement Convinces You, Stay Convinced

When you read in this newspaper the advertisement of a manufacturer who has paid for the space used to convince you that it is to your interest to buy his goods, and you go to a dealer where such articles are usually handled for sale, do not let the dealer or any one of his clerks sell you something else which he claims is "just as good." If an advertisement convinced you, it was because of the element of truth which it contained.

INSIST ON GETTING WHAT YOU ASK FOR.

In the Free Vaccination Ward. A Lithuanian woman was getting her fifth baby vaccinated the other day.

"I am glad," said the young surgeon, "that you recognize the importance of vaccination."

"Oh, yes," she said, "I often wonder," she added pensively, "what it's done for, though. It's to show you're a free citizen, the same as naturalization papers, ain't it?"

HOUSE WORK

Thousands of American women in our homes are daily sacrificing their lives to duty.

In order to keep the home neat and pretty, the children well dressed and tidy, women overdo. A female weakness or displacement is often brought on and they suffer in silence, drifting along from bad to worse, knowing well that they ought to have help to overcome the pains and aches which daily make life a burden.

It is to these faithful women that comes as a boon and a blessing, as it did to Mrs. F. Ellsworth, of Mayville, N. Y., and to Mrs. W. P. Boyd, of Beaver Falls, Pa., who say:

"I was not able to do my own work, owing to the female trouble from which I suffered. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helped me wonderfully, and I am so well that I can do as big a day's work as I ever did. I wish every sick woman would try it."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

CROSSES OCEAN TO WED.

English Girl Journeys to Meet Former Danville Man.

Danville.—Twenty-three years ago George Haskins left this city to seek his fortune; recently he returned a wealthy man, met his sweetheart, who had come from Manchester, England, in response to his summons, and was married by Rev. Johannes Rockstroh in the Plaza hotel. Mr. Haskins was in Alaska when gold was discovered there. Five years ago on a visit to his home in England he met Miss Anna Cartwright in Manchester. After a second trip to the gold fields he cabled her to meet him here. They departed immediately after the ceremony for Fairbanks, Alaska.

WARNER WINS IN TAX CONTEST.

Mistake in Connection with Assessment Costs County Thousands.

Bloomington.—Judge W. G. Cochran, in the De Witt county circuit court handed down a decision in favor of Vespasian Warner, United States pension commissioner, in his protest against spreading upon the tax books the assessment of $1,250,000 levied against the Warner estate by the board of review. The court held that an error had been made in not notifying the executor. The mistake costs the county thousands of dollars.

Former Illinoisans Elect Officers.

St. Louis, Mo.—The Illinois Society of St. Louis held its annual election of officers at the Planters' hotel. The following officers were elected: Judge James E. Withrow, president; E. H. Wangelin, first vice-president; George W. Parker, second vice-president; C. F. Blanke, third vice-president; Fred C. Blanke, treasurer; Ernest C. Dodge, secretary, and Charles P. Johnson, historian. The following executive board was elected: Dr. R. H. Mace, M. E. Hogan, George L. Corlis, R. M. Johnson and Ford Smith.

Illinois Gets Noted Scientist.

Urbana.—Dr. Max Abraham, professor of mathematical physics of the University of Goettingen, Berlin, has been called to a chair in the University of Illinois. Dr. Abraham is one of Germany's most eminent scholars and the University of Goettingen one of the foremost of the world. Benjamin Franklin and J. Pierpont Morgan both studied within its walls.

Macoupin Druggists in Session.

Carlinville.—The Macoupin County Association of Retail Druggists met in this city. The druggists of the county are now thoroughly organized and will meet once every three months, the next meeting to be held at Mount Olive August 11.—President L. C. Deck of Girard and Secretary W. C. Graham of Carlinville were re-elected for the ensuing year.

Held Two Suspects for Murder.

Joliet.—William Hagerman and Ernest Lee, both residents of the village of Rockdale, were behind bars at the county jail. Although serving sentences for vagrancy they really were held as suspects in the Moenic murder case. Both denied having anything to do, either directly or indirectly, with the killing.

Will Elect Large Elevator.

Shelbyville.—One hundred and sixteen farmers of the eastern part of the county have organized a mutual elevator company, each pledging himself to market his grain only through this elevator. Land has been leased and an elevator, to be the largest in Shelby county, will be erected at once.

To Aid Trade Interest.

Chicago.—A party of business men representing the Chicago Association of Commerce and acting as special advocates of Chicago's greatness and its future possibilities left the city for a 12-day tour through Michigan and Ohio, for the purpose of stimulating interest in the "great central market."

Moving Pictures Show Coin; Illegal.

Chicago.—Because it showed picture of United States money, and therefore violated the federal counterfeit law, a moving picture film in a State street five-cent theater fell under the ban of Assistant United States District Attorney Robert W. Childs. The proprietor was notified to stop showing the film.

Horse Kills Fairfield Lad.

Fairfield.—Delmer, the seven-year-old son of Harry Bourne, living 12 miles northeast of this city, was kicked and killed by a horse. The boy's skull was crushed.

Is Crushed in Mine.

Pana.—Charles Krenmer, aged 39 years, was killed at the Old mine by coal which he was mining falling on him, in his room in the mine. Deceased was married and leaves a wife and three children in Germany.

Carlinville Alumni Elect Officers.

Carlinville.—The High School Alumni association elected the following officers for the present year: President, Miss Olive Wilson; vice-president, Miss Florence Head; secretary and treasurer, Y. B. Hemphill.

EX-ALDERMEN INDICTED; FINED.

Rockford Officials Are Hit by Bribery Charges.

Rockford.—Recently the grand jury returned an indictment against three of the present aldermen. Later that body brought into court three more indictments, but these were against ex-aldermen. The defendants were Dr. E. C. Dunn, John Nash and C. H. Woolsey. The charge against them was accepting a bribe from the Central Heating and Power company to pass an ordinance granting the corporation a franchise. They pleaded guilty and were fined $2,000 each.

"WILL BE NO ELECTION."

Prophet Dreams of God's Party, Terms Present Campaign Futile.

Danville.—According to the prophecies of Abner Markwell, the "Soldiers' home prophet," there will be no presidential election this year, and the Democratic and Republican conventions will not even be held. He predicts that before the end of the present month the "Grange of God," the new government which, he declares, is to be instituted by the Lord, will have been established in this country.

Night in Cell Enough.

Belleville.—One night in jail was enough for Ewald Siebert, Belleville's $60,000 bachelor. Rather than pay a fine of ten dollars and costs assessed on a charge of being drunk and disorderly, Siebert, who is 60 years old, declared he would work it out in the county workhouse. After spending a night in a cell he decided to pay the fine.

Hail Breaks Window Panes.

Salesbury.—During a hailstorm here when stones, some of which weighed two and one-half ounces fell, window panes in the village were broken. Five houses were unroofed. Fruit and shade trees suffered heavily, many branches being torn loose, while in some instances the trees were uprooted.

Fight in Skiff Fatal.

Quincy.—Adam Wagner was drowned in the bay. He was in a boat with his wife and another man. The men quarreled and Wagner attempted to strike, but missed and fell overboard. The survivors were arrested, but the coroner's jury called the death accidental and they were released.

Canton Opens Railway.

Canton.—The Illinois Central Electric railroad opened five miles from Canton to St. Davids. Extensions are planned to the north, south and east. It is a local company, and has two 40-foot cars and good equipment. There is a large population along the line and the proposed extension.

Flood Maroons Farmer.

Cantrall.—A foot in the bottoms near this place, his escape cut off by a rapidly rising creek, Robert Lloyd, a farmer, was rescued by his nephew, Walter Lloyd, who, with two horses, swam the stream, enabling the stranded man to mount and ride back to higher land.

"Drys" to Fight Clubs.

Tampico.—One hundred prominent citizens of Tampico face indictments for violation of the dry law. No sooner had the prohibition regulation become effective than "clubs" began to spring up in profusion.

Free Three of Illegal Vote Charge.

Virden.—John Dennis, Francis Dillon and Peter Nerone, who were charged with voting illegally at the recent election here, were dismissed by Judge Huffaker.

Farm Lands Inundated.

Oakford.—The levee north of this city, weakened by the overflow of the Sangamon river, gave way in several places and the water is now running over the farm lands.

Lincoln Woman Asks Divorce.

Lincoln.—Peary Ellen Powley commenced suit for divorce from Charles A. Powley. She charges drunkenness. Both are widely known Lincoln residents.

Councilmen Indicted.

Rockford.—Aldermen Reynolds, Paulson and Carby were indicted by the grand jury on bribery charges.

Democratic Leader Ends Life.

Freeport.—Samuel Taylor, a prominent northern Illinois Democrat, killed himself.

Breaks Neck in Fall.

Bloomington.—Mrs. Esther Wheelock, an aged woman of McLean, accidentally fell downstairs at the home of Mrs. Nelson, where she made her home, and it is presumed broke her neck in a fall which caused her death.

Storekeeper a "Fagin"

Joliet.—The grand jury indicted John Rudman, saloonkeeper, grocer and butcher on North Scott street, on the charge of receiving stolen property. He is also accused of aiding and encouraging boys to steal.

PEACE PLAN FAILS

NO ARBITRATION IN CLEVELAND WHILE MEN RIOT.

PRESIDENT DUPONT FIRM

Strikers and Their Sympathizers Again Resort to Violence—Car Men Beaten and Wires Cut.

Cleveland, O.—The attempt by the members of the state board of arbitration Monday to bring about peace between the Municipal Traction Company and its striking employees resulted in a failure.

President Dupont conferred with Members Bishop and Owens of the board in regard to strike settlement, and while he agreed to arbitrate some points he would not concede the one thing for which the men stand determinedly.

"In no case will I arbitrate the reinstatement of the men at the expense of those now employed," he said. "I shall stick for the seniority of runs, those now working getting the preference."

President Dupont was asked whether he would arbitrate all other points. He replied that he would arbitrate no points until the lawlessness had ceased.

Deeds of violence continued to be reported on the part of strike sympathizers throughout the day. A car was held up at the corner of Broadway and Central avenue. A brick was thrown striking the conductor in the head, knocking him unconscious. His condition is serious, but it is thought he will recover. The motorman was dragged from the car, but was released when it was supposed by the rioters that the conductor had been killed. A non-union motorman while walking to the Windemere barn Monday was attacked by a number of strike sympathizers and terribly beaten. Trolley wires were cut and obstructions placed on the car tracks at many points.

SUBMITS TO GOV. PINDALL.

Arkansas Legislature Does Not Hold Extra Session.

Little Rock, Ark.—The Arkansas legislature failed to convene Monday in pursuance to a call issued by Speaker Allen H. Hamiter, while he was acting governor, and as the result there will be no extraordinary session of that body.

Noon and afternoon sessions were held by members of both the senate and house, but there was not a quorum at any of the four sessions. The house at the close of the afternoon session adjourned sine die. The senate met at a mass meeting of senators in the afternoon and, adopting resolutions recognizing Acting Gov. X. O. Pindall's power to revoke Speaker Hamiter's call for an extra session, agreed to disperse and return home.

BAD FLOOD AT MELLE, WIS.

People Driven from Homes and City Power House Swamped.

Ashland, Wis.—A violent rainstorm swept over the northern part of Wisconsin. At Mellen, Ashland county, the dam went out Monday morning. Hundreds of residents in the Italian quarter and near the Foster-Latimer mill were driven from their homes in the darkness by the flood, and cows and other stock were drowned. Three bridges went out. The power house was flooded and the dynamo destroyed. Communication between the two parts of Mellen is cut off. Public schools and mills are shut down and the city will be in darkness for several days on account of damage to the lighting plant. Families are encamped on the surrounding hills.

BROKERS FORCED TO WALL.

Big Pittsburg Firm Fails Because of Bank Suspension.

Pittsburg, Pa.—Following the filing of an involuntary petition in bankruptcy in the United States district court late Monday, Attorney C. F. Patterson was appointed receiver for Carothers & Co., one of the largest brokerage firms in the city.

That the failure of the brokerage firm is due to the suspension of the Allegheny National bank was stated by Receiver Patterson.

Veteran Iowa Lawyer Dead.

Muscatine, Ia.—Judge J. Scott Richman, one of the oldest practicing lawyers in Iowa in years of service, is dead at his country home north of Muscatine. He was admitted to the bar in 1839.

Earthquake in Montana.

Helena, Mont.—Three earthquake shocks were perceptible in this county Sunday night. At Marysville dishes rattled on shelves and clocks were made to strike.

Nevada Railways Consolidate.

New York.—Following recent rumors of the impending consolidation of certain Nevada railways, definite announcement was made Monday to the effect that the Tonopah & Tidewater railroad had purchased the control of the stock of the Bullfrog & Goldfield railroad and that a new company would be incorporated under the name of the Tonopah & Tidewater Railway company, which will control and operate the entire line from Ludlow, Cal., to Goldfield. F. M. Smith is to be president of the new company.

STOPPED TO SALUTE HOGS.

One Man at Least Grateful to the Source of His Wealth.

"The Interpreter" in the American Magazine says of a respectful father he once knew:

"Isn't it time we took off our hats and thanked this pleasant land for the good things it has done for us by going on patiently covering up our blunders, rectifying our mistakes, and responding cheerfully to our every intelligent effort?"

"I knew a man out west who had the right idea about it. His father had made a great fortune in the pork packing business. The heir was not puffed up by his millions. Long after he had grown accustomed to the money and might reasonably be expected to look down on butchers, if in walking in the country with his children they saw a drove of hogs on the road, he would make his little boys stand at attention and take off their hats. 'I want them to respect the sources of wealth,' he said."

SEVERE HEMORRHOIDS

Sores, and Itching Eczema—Doctor Thought an Operation Necessary—Cuticura's Efficacy Proven.

"I am now 80 years old, and three years ago I was taken with an attack of piles (hemorrhoids), bleeding and protruding. The doctor said the only help for me was to go to a hospital and be operated on. I tried several remedies for months but did not get much help. During this time sores appeared which changed to a terrible itching eczema. Then I began to use Cuticura Soap, Ointment, and Pills, injecting a quantity of Cuticura Ointment with a Cuticura Suppository Syringe. It took a month of this treatment to get me in a fairly healthy state and then I treated myself once a day for three months and, after that, once or twice a week. The treatments I tried took a lot of money, and it is fortunate that I used Cuticura. J. H. Henderson, Hopkinton, N. Y., Apr. 26, 1907."

His Elusive Memory.

Employer—William, did that man who called to see me while I was out leave his name?

Shaggy-Haired Office Boy—Yes, sir; his name is—well, the last part of it is "shaw."

Employer—What's the first part of it?

Office Boy (making a strenuous effort to recall it)—Well, sir, it's either Grim, or Hawk, or Hen, or Brad, or Fan, or Ker, or Rick, but to save my bloomin' life, Mr. Townsend, I can't remember which.

And the Moon Man Laughed.

They were jogging along the old road and cupid was so busy that the young man dropped the lines either side of the runabout. It was then that the wise old nag turned lazily around.

"What are you looking at?" queried the owl by the roadside.

"I am reading between the lines," laughed the old nag as she gave a horse laugh and showed her long yellow teeth.

Steam Quenched Oil Fire.
Steam was successfully used recently in quenching an oil fire at Petersville, Pa. There are about 30 oil wells in the vicinity of the town, and when one of them caught fire the burning oil flowed through the streets. Steam was raised in the boilers of the oil rigs and the inhabitants used it to put out the fire.

Tired nerves, with that "no ambition" feeling that is commonly felt in spring or early summer, can be easily and quickly allayed by taking what is known to druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. One will absolutely note a changed feeling within 48 hours after beginning to take the Restorative. The bowels get sluggish in the winter-time, the circulation often slows up, the kidneys are inactive, and even the heart in many cases grows decidedly weaker. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is recognized everywhere as a genuine tonic to these vital organs. It builds up and strengthens the worn-out weakened nerves; it sharpens the failing appetite, and universally aids digestion. It always quickly brings renewed strength, lift, vigor, and ambition. Try it and be convinced. Sold by J. H.

A great many people imagine they have heart trouble when the fact is that the whole trouble lies in the stomach. The pains in the side around the region of the heart are not necessarily heart trouble. We suggest that you start with the stomach and whenever your food seems to nauseate take Kodol. It will not be very long until all these "heart pains" will disappear. Take Kodol now and until you know you are right again. There isn't any doubt about what it will do and you will find the truth of the statement verified after you have used Kodol for a few weeks. It is sold here by J. H. Swan.

Way of the World.

We live in a maze of kaleidoscopic gashes. One of the quaint effects is this: How suddenly the man who gets up in the world can forget you, and how suddenly he can remember you when he comes down.

A Californian's Luck.

"The luckiest day of my life was when I bought a box of Bucklen's Arnica Salve," writes Charles F. Budahn, of Tracy California. "Two 25c. boxes cured me of an annoying case of itching piles, which had troubled me for years and that yielded to no other treatment." Sold under guarantee at J. H. Swan's drug store.
